When it comes to building truly unique customized garage doors, Renner Supply Company knows how to make your ideas come to life.

Since 1956 Renner Supply and Delden Manufacturing have been providing Kansas City and surrounding areas with the finest in residential garage doors and commercial overhead doors while expanding into St. Louis, Springfield and the Lake of the Ozarks.

With over 12 popular residential garage door product lines, such as full-custom wood, steel with trim accents, traditional, modern contemporary, Vintage Plus, Amarr

Classica, the design choices are endless.

“Garage doors are really the new front door,” stated Denise Dahms, president of Renner Supply and Delden. “Customers are searching for a look that complements the style of their homes and has beautiful curb appeal. This is why we introduced the “Your Home Your Design” products. We can provide a style that complements for, your options are endless. “I believe we have the finest artisan craftsmen in the region. We build all of our wood doors right here in Kansas City,” says Dahms. “Our doors are specifically designed and handcrafted to create an authentic feel that will complement all styles of architecture. Built with exceptional craftsmanship and attention to detail, every door is made to your specifications and can be constructed with nearly any species of wood. Beautiful, elegant and durable, our custom wood garage doors are real works of art.”

Maybe you’re looking for a modern design with vertical decorative glass panels. Or perhaps a French Country arched look with glass and decorative hardware. If an Old World or Tuscan look with deep embossed panels is more your style, Renner Supply can design it. And if you are building a new home, they are known for their professional and collaborative approach, working extensively with home designers and building architects to customize its wooden garage doors exactly to customer expectations.

“One thing that surprises our customers is that the cost to get a modern door with vertical glass panels is quite similar to a traditional door,” explains Willy Dahms, leading salesperson for Renner Supply. “The commercial side of the business has really begun to cross over to residential. Customers are getting their inspiration from places such as restaurants and cafes.”

“Our customers are often pleasantly surprised when we inform them of all the custom options available at little to no extra charge,” states Brad Dodson, director of marketing. “Presenting these affordable options provides the customer with more of a pleasurable experience due to their new found opportunity to largely enhance the aesthetic appeal of their home.”

That fresh, modern look can be seen in this year’s 2017 St. Jude Dream Home Showplace. “We are very grateful to Summit Custom Homes for giving us the opportunity to work on this project and to provide St. Jude’s with top quality garage custom garage doors, so this was the best of both worlds for me and something I see as a milestone in my career,” he added. This specific home features Delden model Delcraft 138 (DC-138) in Flush design with Obscure glass in a vertical pattern.

What really sets Renner Supply apart from other garage door companies? “It’s something we call the Delden Difference,” says Dodson. “High quality components in all of our doors, vast distribution of multiple brands and ability to custom design our doors in house. The customer can really control the entire process. And they appreciate that.” ■
